there are different tribes practicing different culture and tradition that have used different traction devices on the neck, lips, ears, breasts, and genitals